

Visitor from another planet

Naming things

Gorf, a visitor from the planet Haret, uses different words when naming things. No one could understand him until he pointed to different objects.

Write the names we use for the things he pointed to.

reet

kobo

tribba

pleap

rast

poson

blate

tofo

The names we call things are called nouns.

Spaced-out sentences

A sentence is a group of words telling something that makes sense.

A sentence starts with a capital letter and ends with a full stop.

Gorf quickly learned to speak our language, but when he wrote down some facts about his planet, we found them difficult to read. (He didn't use any spaces!)

Rewrite the sentences Gorf wrote, leaving spaces between the words.

1 TheskyonplanetHaretispink.

2 TheHaretiansliveundertheground.

3 Childrenonlygotoschoolonceaweek.

4 ThecarsonHarethavesquarewheels.

Rhyme time

If you look closely, you will see that the words Gorf spoke can be rearranged to make words we use.

Example: blate – table gorf – frog Haret – Earth

These are called anagrams – swapping the letters of a word around to make a new word.

Can you work out some more of Gorf's words?
You will find that each column of words rhymes.

Introduction

Hi. I'm here to guide you through this book and help you remember the things you need to know about grammar. Whenever you see me, please READ, THINK and REMEMBER.

Hi. I'm Eddie Exclamation. Look out for me. I am hidden in every week. Can you find me?

Give the elephant a name _____
Then colour it in.

Let's call our new baby Hannah.

Names

When you are born, you are given a name. A name is a proper noun.

A proper noun begins with a capital letter.

Example: Hannah

What is your name? _____

Give each of these a name (a proper noun). Don't forget the capital letter.

Baby talk

Babies do not know many words, so they cannot speak in proper sentences.

Want swing.

No like peas.

Go park.

Love bunny.

No sleep.

A proper sentence is: I want to go on the swing.

Write a proper sentence for each picture.

Trip around Australia

Cities apart

When Andrew returned from his trip around Australia he wrote in his diary.

We went to Sydney and Brisbane and Darwin and Adelaide and Perth and Melbourne and Hobart.

When listing words we use a comma (,) instead of the word and, except between the last two words in the list.

Andrew should write:

We went to Sydney, Brisbane, Darwin, Adelaide, Perth, Melbourne and Hobart.

Rewrite these sentences. Use a comma instead of and, except for the last and.

1 On our trip we saw kangaroos and koalas and wombats and emus.

2 We saw Parliament House and Sydney Harbour Bridge and Uluru.

3 When we were in Queensland we went fishing and sailing and swimming and boogie boarding and shopping.

Special places

Proper nouns are the special names given to people, places and things. Proper nouns begin with a capital letter.

Use a line to match the following words (nouns) to the proper nouns.

a river •

a city •

a state •

a mountain •

At the footy

Who says?

Sentences that ask something are called questions. Statements tell something. Questions end in a question mark. Statements end in a full stop.

In the footy crowd below, some people are making statements and others are asking questions. Draw faces on those asking questions. Also put in question marks after each question and full stops after each statement.

What do they do at the footy?

Words that tell us what someone or something is doing are called verbs. Verbs are sometimes called doing words.

All the words in the football are verbs. Write which words the footballer might be 'doing' and which words the football fan might be 'doing'.

Footballer

kick

Fan

scream

Match play

The words cheer, scream and shout are similar (nearly the same) in meaning. Words that are similar in meaning are called synonyms.

For each word, colour the football that contains a word similar in meaning.
